MINERS DEFY LLOYD GEORGE

Refuse to Order Safety Men Back at Premier's Demand

PREMIER ADAMNANT

No Cessation In Preparations By Government or Unions—Americans Not Excited

London, April 7.—The optimism which prevailed earlier yesterday that the strike of the miners last night might be settled as a result of the conference between the workers and the owners which had been announced to take place with Premier Lloyd George this morning gave place to gloom last night, when it was announced by the Premier in the House of Commons that the miners had refused to negotiate so long as the Premier insisted that safety men must be ordered back to the mines as a preliminary to any discussion.

Since the Premier added that negotiations could not proceed unless this obstacle is overcome, the country is anxiously awaiting the morrow, fearful that the dreaded general strike will be precipitated, which will be the greatest in its history and which threatens to rock the very foundations of the Government.

Representatives of the triple alliance, comprising the miners, railway men and transport workers, had met in the afternoon and decided to post pone action until tomorrow. Following their announcement there was a distinct feeling of relief that a way would be found to avert the crisis. The statement of the Premier in the House of Commons last night, therefore, came like a bombshell to the public, which had already been keyed up for several days in anticipation of the serious trouble which impended over the country.

The situation however, is not without some ray of hope. Frank Hodges, secretary of the miners, stated last night that he did not regard the question of negotiations as hopeless. In addition to that the Premier has written to Hodges asking him to come to Downing street tomorrow morning, when, it is expected, Lloyd George will repeat the request that the safety men be permitted to return to work.

Some think that the difficulty about the pumping men is due to suspicions entertained by both sides and that it is not serious enough to preclude the possibility of negotiations. On the other hand there is no cessation in the preparations which are being made for any emergency by the Government or the miners and the unions affiliated with them.

It is also believed that, despite the attitude of the Government regarding a subsidy, there is likely to be some temporary relief provided which will carry the negotiations along until the wage question is thrashed out. But all attempts by the strikers to draw unemployment benefits have been firmly resisted.

The danger of a general strike is still very real, however, and the Evening Standard estimates that if the coal strike alone continues a month 800,000 more workers will be rendered idle. During the day the Government's plans for getting a complete stoppage of transport were rushed to a conclusion. Three thousand troops, with steel helmets and full war equipment have been placed at Kensington Gardens to guard against possible disturbances. London Gardens were closed to the public and it was indicted Hyde Park also might be closed.

Under drastic powers acquired under the Emergency act, requisition of means of transport for food distribution was begun in the north of England, while 12 destroyers left Portsmouth for ports near the coal fields. Sailing of Atlantic liners has not been affected as yet. They are receiving plenty of bunker coal and there are no signs of an exodus of Americans. White Star Line officials said yesterday afternoon that their schedule might be seriously disarranged in the event of a dock workers' strike.

A continuation of rioting is reported in Scotland and Wales, while the last safety men have been withdrawn from Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire. Frequent clashes between police and miners have occurred in Scotland, but none has yet assumed the status of widespread disorder. Welsh miners also are said to be growing restive, but it was generally quiet in Wales yesterday. Mines in the Midlands are untroubled, generally being assured of enough volunteer workers to prevent flooding.

Incidental strikes, not connected with the main issue, include the walkout of 600 teachers in the Croydon schools and a strike of gas workers in South End.

Columbia Fire Report

President Roberts Says 27 Alarms During Quarter—Reports Company in Good Condition

Norman Roberts, president of the Columbia Fire Engine Company, submitted his first quarterly report as president at a meeting last night. The report is from January 1, to March 31 inclusive and it follows:

First: The company as a whole is in the best of condition, good feeling exists between all of the men as far as I am able to ascertain. The words "Progress and Pep" seem to be the motto of the boys as they are showing this daily in the interest that they are taking in the company's affairs. New members are being added almost monthly to our rolls both active and honorary. This alone would show that we are progressing.

Second: There were 27 fire alarms during the quarter which we have responded to and are as follows: 8 service alarms where we were forced to use water, 4 hours and 25 minutes; 7 chemical alarms; 12 non-serviceable alarms.

These alarms we had 547 members respond for duty an average of 20 men to the alarm. Highest responding to an individual alarm 35 and the lowest number to an individual alarm 12.

Number of members on the roll both active and honorary 124. This indeed is a good showing and any company to be justly proud of.

Third: On March the 9th in the Westminster Building we celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the company and it was a success in every detail. The most important incident of the occasion was the presence of 4 of the 6 living members who responded to their names. On this occasion the history of the company was read by E. S. Leadbeater and speakers for the evening was Hon. R. Walton Moore, Chief K. W. Ogden, first vice president of Reliance Company, Claude W. Fletcher; president common Council, Mr. H. R. Burke; corporation attorney H. Noe Garner. Your president acting as toastmaster. Our company has taken part in different civic parades and we have had a representation of our company to attend the funerals of the late members of Reliance Company.

Fourth: In closing my report I take this opportunity to thank each and every member for their co-operation of which they have rendered during the first quarter and charge them to continue their undivided service to this city in which they live and protect.

I also wish at this time to commend the paid men for the tidyness in which our house is kept. I would also at this time beg of the volunteers to assist the paid men in their duties upon the fire grounds and carry out all rules pertaining to the house as possible.

CLAIMS HE KILLED JOSEPH EWELL

Alleged Forger Says He and Another Slew Bridge Expert

WAS HIRED BY WOMAN

Asserts They Were Promised $5,000 And He Got $500 On Account—Woman Named Unknown

Buffalo, April 7.—Roy Harris, arrested here yesterday evening on a charge of forgery, signed a statement to the effect that he and another man killed Joseph B. Elwell in New York last June.

Harris says that he and a friend, William Dunkin, were accosted on the street by a chauffeur they knew, who told them he had a woman passenger who might pay them well for a job. They got in and drove about with the woman, who said her name was Mrs. Fairchild, and promised them $5,000 to kill Elwell. She gave them $5 0each on account and the next morning met them and drove them to Elwell's home on West Seventieth street, where she let them in with a key.

Harris alleges Dunkin shot Elwell. The woman, he said, gave them $450 each and promised the rest of the money later. Harris says he never got any more and suspects his pal "double crossed" him. He fled the city when the tragedy excited such widespread interest.

The man had been staying at a hotel here with his wife since Tuesday. An acquaintance tipped the local police off that he was wanted in St. Catherines, Ontario, for alleged check forgery and he was arrested. As he was being brought into the station house he said:

"That check thing was all settled. I know what you want me for. It is the Elwell murder."

Then, without much prompting, he dictated a statement and signed it.

The local police notified the New York authorities.

New York, April 7.—Police headquarters here was notified last night of the arrest of Roy Harris in Buffalo and his alleged confession that he took part in the murder of Joseph B. Elwell here last June, but official comment was withheld, pending the receipt of further details.

So far as is known, the name of "Mrs. Fairchild," mentioned in the alleged confession, has never been brought into the case before.

From outward appearances, the murder of Elwell has remained to date an impenetrable mystery.

On the night of June 10 last, Elwell attended a dinner party in a large hotel with several friends and later went with them to a midnight roof garden show, where they remained until 1:30 a. m. Members of the dinner party told the police that Elwell them bid them "good night" and started to walk home.

A neighbor claimed to have seen him driven home by a man in a racing car an hour later, while testimony also was introduced to show that a man answering his description was seen in a Broadway dance hall, accompanied by woman, in the interval.

At 8:30 in the morning of June 11 his housekeeper found him, clad in his pajamas and slumped in a chair in the reception hall of his home. He was still breathing, but his head had been pierced by a large caliber bullet. He died a few hours later, without giving any clue to his assailant.

There was no weapon near his body, no footprint, no evidence of a struggle. Doors and windows were securely locked. There were no powder marks on his face and no burns, eliminating any possible theory of self destruction.

After an exhaustive investigation by police and representatives of the District Attorney's office, it was finally admitted that no tangible clue to the murder had been found.

Only a few days ago the papers in the case were turned over to former Governor Whitman for his investigation by District Attorney Swann. Mr. Whitman has made a careful study of the papers, but so far as is known he has not yet questioned any witnesses in connection with the crime.

Flower Thieves

Are at Work In Cemeteries—Efforts Made to Apprehend Guilty Parties

Many complaints are being received by Mayor J. M. Duncan, the members of the police department and others regarding the theft of cut flowers and set pieces from graves in the various cemeteries of the city.

Mayor Duncan stated today that he had instructed the police to keep close watch over the cemeteries and see if the guilty parties cannot be apprehended. The maximum fine it it stated will be imposed on all such offenders with a view of breaking up this practice. Lot owners are loud in their denunciation of those responsible for stealing flowers from graves in the city of the dead. The lot owners also will co-operate with the authorities in putting a stop to this practice.

A lady reported to the Gazette yesterday that a large easel was was stolen from her lot and a reward has been offered for its return.

HUGHES DEMANDS U. S. EQUAL RIGHTS

Priveleges Not Lost By Failure to Ratify Treaty

YAP AWARD INVALID

Says League Is Without Authority to Bind This Country—U. S. Assent Necessary

Washington, April 7.—In language about as blunt as a diplomatic note permits, Secretary of State Hughes has advised the world that the United States has surrendered none of its rights in the overseas possessions of Germany secured to the principal Allied and Associated Powers by the Treaty of Versailles. This note was served on the governments of Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy in similar notes dispatched by the State Department last Monday.

Specifically, the communications deal with the award to Japan by the Supreme Council at Paris on May 7, 1919 of a mandate over the Island of Yap, an important cable center in the Pacific Ocean, and Mr. Hughes says the American Government "trusts that this action, which it must assume, was taken under a misapprehension, will be reconsidered."

The American note disputes the validity of the Japanese mandate on the following grounds:

First—Because the United States was one of the associated powers that won the war and there can be no disposition of the German overseas possessions without its assent.

Second—Even under the treaty our assent is required.

Third—Woodrow Wilson consistently reserved the Island of Yap from the possessions that were to go under mandate and had demanded the internationalization of the island for cable purposes.

The notes are the first important diplomatic communications penned by the new Secretary of State and they make it plain that the change of administrations in Washington had resulted in no modification of the previous position of the United States that, as one of the principal contributors to the common victory over Germany, it must insist upon the exercise of its full rights in the disposition of the former German possessions.

Only one of the communications—that to Great Britain—was made public. Those to France and Italy are understood to be substantially the same, but the State Department, in giving out the note to the London Foreign Office last night, explained that the note to Japan contained "additional paragraphs referring to previous correspondence between the two governments." It added that the correspondence with Tokio "is not made public at this time," but no official explanation was forthcoming.

The note to Japan is in reply to one on the subject of Yap received from that country on last March 2. This communication and those to the other three Allied Powers were supplemental to previous notes on this subject from the United States to those Governments and also to the council of the League of Nations. The series was begun by Secretary Colby last November 9, after the international communications conference had convened here to dispose of the former German cables seized by the Allies at the outbreak of the war.

Asserting that "there could be no valid or effective disposition of the overseas possessions of Germany now under consideration, without the assent of the United States," Secretary Hughes points out that the Treaty of Versailles does not "purport to secure to Japan or to any other nations any right in the overseas possessions of Germany save as a equal right therein should be secured to the United States."

"On the contrary," he says "Article 119 of the Treaty of Versailles provides: 'Germany renounces in favor of the principal Allied and Associated Powers all her rights and titles over her oversea possessions.' It will not be questioned that one of the 'principal Allied and Associated Powers' in whose favor Germany renounces her rights and titles is the United States. Thus not only the position of the Government of Japan derives no strength from the Treaty of Versailles or from any discussions preliminary thereto, but the terms of that treaty confirm the position of the Government of the United States."

Referring to contentions previously raised—that the Supreme Council at Paris during the drafting of the Treaty of Versailles agreed to a mandate over Yap for Japan—Mr. Hughes calls attention to the fact that President Wilson already had made in the previous meetings of the Supreme Council on three separate occasions reservations regarding the Pacific Island.

The Secretary then quotes from a letter from President Wilson to the State Department on last March 3, in which he declares that he had taken the position that the Island of Yap should be internationalized for cable purposes. Mr. Wilson goes on to say that he never abandoned or modified this position and did not agree on May 7, 1919, or at any other time, that the island should be included in the assignment of mandates to Japan.

INHERITANCE TAX

Estates of Persons Who Died Since June, 1918, Subject to Tax

Richmond, Va., April 7.—That all estates of persons who have died intestate since June 20, 1918, are subject to the inheritance tax laws of Virginia was yesterday decided by the Supreme Court of Virginia in denying a petition for appeal from the corporation court of Fredericksburg in the case of Warden's Exors vs. Commonwealth. The executors of Mr. Warden, who died intestate as to a part of his estate, claimed that the portion of the estate which passed by the laws regulating descents and distributions was not taxable because of an omission in the inheritance tax law enacted by the Legislature in 1918. The words "by the laws regulating descents and distributions" were inadvertently omitted in the first section of this law which prescribed what property should be subject to the tax. As a result of the court's decision on yesterday the Warden executors will have to pay State inheritance taxes to the amount of $34,930.32. The same question, however, has been raised in several other courts of the State and it is estimated that cases involving several hundred thousand dollars in taxes were pending this decision of the Supreme Court. The question was decided by the Chancery Court of the city of Richmond adversely to the interest of the State in 1919, but upon petition for a re-hearing the court overruled its former decision. Since that time the inheritance tax commissioner has been engaged in assessing these estates and now that the matter has been finally determined by the Supreme Court it is estimated that $100,000,000 will be collected in Richmond alone as a result of the decision. All taxes collected by the State from inheritances are used for the public schools.

Straining a Knat.

The new foreign policy of this country, as a natural consequence of the wreck of the Versailles Treaty by the Senate oligarchy, seems to be to take no part in the responsibilities which the making of peace in a war-torn world entails but to demand all the privileges to which we feel we are entitled.

Our position with reference to the little island of Yap, re-enforced so strongly by the note made public today from Secretary Hughes to the Allied powers, illustrates the point in a most striking manner. With those vast settlements which make for either the future peace or war of Europe, such as the Silesian plebiscite or the threatened return of a Hapsburg to the throne of Austria, we are not to be concerned. But when it comes to a mandate over a few acres of land in the Pacific Ocean, we are to stand upon the meticulous observance of our pound of flesh. Our policy will be to let the camels go winding their way, while the knats, especially those which belong to us, we intend to strain through the finest mesh of diplomacy we can invent.

There can be no question about the right of the United States to refuse to recognize the mandate of Japan over the island of Yap. Mr. Wilson at Paris refused to recognize that mandate. Mr. Colby, his Secretary of State afterwards refused to recognize that mandate. And now Mr. Hughes has with great ability and logic refused to recognize that mandate. There is, however, a great and grave question about the moral right of this country to refuse to take part in any of the decisions which must necessarily be made by the Allies and at the same time insist upon interfering at every stage of the game with the solutions attempted.

Tobacco and Then What?

Recent announcement of a new drive against tobacco would doubtless elicit merely a chuckle of amusement from its millions of addicts, were it not for the fact that there were several millions who chuckled just the same way when the drive against alcohol began and now chuckle no more. With the advent of prohibition still fresh in our minds, well may those who are devotees of the goddess Nicotine tremble for the safety of their beloved weed. Who knows but that the pipe and the cigarette holder may not soon become as obsolete as the decanter and the brass rail?

The thing that a great many of us are wondering, both those of us who voted for and those who voted against the prohibition of alcohol, is when and where is prohibition going to stop. After tobacco, what then? Perhaps the ice-cream soda and the coca-cola will next come under the ban and the fountains of the land be closed. It might be dancing that will come next on the list of things forbidden. Cards and dice might well be the next pastimes to be attacked by law. Then there are all sorts of things, such as one-piece bathing suits, low-neck evening gowns, clock-stitch hose, love dramas, coffee, tea, bachelors and nude statues, which might be one after another crushed out of existence. And the trouble is somebody would forget to start a movement to prohibit mothers-in-law and neighboring victrolas.

SPORTS

The Cardinal Athletic Club baseball team will play Vic Gauzza's crack Staunton Athletic Club nine on the Knights of Columbus League Baseball Field, Fifth street and Florida Avenue, Northeast, Sunday, April 10, at 2:30 p. m.

Manager Gauzza's ponies are a fast stepping bunch of ball players and they are sure to make things lively for the Cardinal representatives when they meet.

The Gibraltars won from the Cardinals last Sunday and their press agent had a glowing story about their wonderful ball playing and heavy slugging batsmen who knocked the ball to all parts of the lot. Pretty stories, nicely colored, by a dream writer, especially one connected with a winning team, are nice to read by his team mates. They are welcome to all the glory won, but the facts concerning the game should be explained for benefit of those who did not witness the contest. Neidfeldt, pitching for the Cardinals, had plenty of steam power behind his offerings and his purpose was to keep the ball high—across the breast—so as to keep the batsman from hitting it, but instead of having strikes awarded him, many bases on balls were charged against him that meant runs for the victors. The Cardinals were not in form last Sunday because they had not practiced together this year and many errors were made on that account. Later in the season when the Gibraltars visit this city to play the Cardinals a return game, they will not have such an easy time winning as they had last Sunday.

In the coming battle between the Cardinals and Stauntons, Manager Harvey Crump will select the best man for the line up.

Dwyer, the star twirler, from the University of Vermont, is anxious to perform and show the native sons what he knows about the art of pitching baseball. He is a powerful young man weighing nearly 200 pounds, and is as active and graceful as cat. Good nature is his trade mark and he is sure to be a favorite with the baseball fans hereabouts.

The Cardinal team will leave for Washington on the 12:20 train, Sunday.

On Saturday, the 9th, at 2 p. m., the Dreadnaughts play a practice game on Baggett's field, with the Washington Red Sox, but the following day, Sunday, they officially open the season in a contest with the U. S. S. Mayflower. The locals are endeavoring to furnish the Alexandria fans a class of baseball this season that will a be credit to the community and are engaging only first rate teams. Coach Burgandine has been busy for the past three weeks whipping the "D's" in to shape and if predictions come true from old critics on the inside, professional baseball is what you will see on Baggett's field this season.

New faces will be seen in the line up this season and strings are on every player that has promising material. Be on hand Saturday and Sunday to see the opening games at Baggett's, the head of King street.

Everything in in readiness for the big athletic carnival to be staged at the Opera House, under the auspices of the Alexandria Athletic Association Wednesday night. Brooks has been training hard for his bout with Soldier Kirchner, of Camp Humphries, and from all reports both are in great shape for this entertainment. Brooks will weigh at 148 and Kirchner at 145. Reports from the training camp of Dick Hughes is that he is in great shape to meet Kid Snoots, Alexandria's heavy weight, and the crowd can look for a great fight from these two heavy weight wrestlers.

The main boxing attraction of this show will be knockout Mike against Battling Nelson. Knock-out Mike is in great shape as was shown here several nights ago when he met Kid Arnold at a boxing entertainment held by the A. A. A. Battling Nelson is also a great boxer and the crowd can expect something from this youngster in the way of self defense.

Judging from the advance sale of tickets a large crowd will be on hand to witness this entertainment.

An out of town band will furnish music.

SPRING REDUCTION IN PRICES ON COAL:

We are today reducing our prices on both Anthracite and Bituminous coal and will be glad to enter orders for Spring delivery.

The mines claim their present prices are as low as their cost of production will permit and that Anthracite coal will be higher by Fall.

The preparation and the quality of the coal we are now receiving is better than it has been for several years.

The freight is still high but there seems very little likelihood of a reduction shortly.

We have been able to reduce our cost of handling and our trade gets the benefit of this saving.

It is not possible for us to know whether this is the best time to buy your winters coal, but we are sure that a reasonable tonnage will have to be mined, transported and delivered through the Spring and Summer months to avoid a coal shortage and high prices next Fall and Winter.

STATE ROAD WORK

Richmond, April 7.—Road construction on an extensive scale is being undertaken by the State Highway Department. The cost of both labor and material is steadily declining, and indications are that the early spring and summer months will see more state road projects under way than at any time since the establishment of the state system in July, 1918.

Figures today obtained at the office of Commissioner G. P. Coleman showed a total fund, from all sources, of $4,081,101.57 available for new construction work for 1921. The figures apply to construction work only, as distinguished from funds available for maintenance and county aid work. All of the available fund for new construction will be contracted for within the next four months. Commissioner Coleman announced that during April and May bids will be asked for and contracts let for work representing an expenditure of $2,700,000.00 with the balance of available money to be applied to contracts to be made in June and July. These are the funds available for new construction of sections of the state system.

Six Killed; 26 Others Injured In Wreck on Southern Railway

Somerset, Ky., April 7.—Two persons were killed outright and 30 injured, four of whom died later, in a wreck yesterday afternoon of the Royal Palm Limited, northbound, on the Southern Railway at New River Tenn. A special train bearing the dead and injured arrived here at 8.30 o'clock this evening.

A number of the injured are not expected to live.

Three coaches were overturned and three sleeping cars derailed. The wreck was due, according to railroad men, to spreading of the rails.

The Royal Palm Limited runs from Jacksonville, Fla., to Chicago. Through sleepers for Indianapolis, Toledo, Detroit and Chicago are carried.

MRS. REIFENSTEIN, AGED 67, GAINS 25 POUNDS

Declares She Would Like to Put a Bottle of Tanlac in The Hands of Every Sick Man, Woman and Child in This Country--Never Saw Its Equal.

"I am sixty-seven years of age, but in all my experience I have never known a medicine like Tanlac. Think of it! At my age to gain twenty-five pounds in weight, but that is just what I have done," said Mrs. Emma Reifenstein, of No. 337 Webster avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

"If I had it in my power," she continued, "I would put a bottle of Tanlac in the home of every sick man, woman and child in this country, for I know what this wonderful medicine would do for them. For almost two years I was almost a nervous wreck. I did not dare to leave the house or even go up town unless my husband went with me. I was afraid to even cross the street and had a feeling of dread all of the time.

"My stomach was weak and easily upset. For days at a time I would go without solid food. I could not rest at night to do any good and felt tired and worn out all of the time. Some days I could hardly drag myself across the room and was so weak and miserable I was ready to give up.

"My health is fine now and I eat anything I want and never have a touch of indigestion. I have never slept better than I do now. My recovery is the talk of our neighborhood as it was generally believed I could not last but a few weeks longer. This grand medicine has brought me health and happiness and I just can't say enough in its praise."

MRS. EMMA REIFENSTEIN
337 Webster Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. J. Reifenstein, in commenting on his wife's statement, said: "Yes, her recovery has been a happy surprise to us all. A few weeks ago I had no idea she would be able to pull through, but now she is in better health than I have ever seen her and the credit is due to Tanlac. We have been married fifty-two years today and I don't believe I have ever seen her looking any better."

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Warfield, Jr., King and Pitt Streets.

Soldier's Faith to U. S. Pledged Anew on World War Anniversary

New York, April 7.—Hostility to the "hyphen and hyphenated" was pronounced here yesterday by P. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, who, in a statement commemorative of the fourth anniversary of the declaration by the United States of war against Germany, pledged anew the soldier organization's "faith in America, its traditions and its ideals".

"Four years ago tomorrow," said the statement, "we declared war against Germany. The hyphen, realizing that it was an ally of our enemy, promptly took cover. The hyphen dug in and hid its head and, so long as the roar of battle sounded, it maintained an exceedingly low visibility.

"Then there was an armistice, which signified that the danger was over; and, with the passing of danger, the hyphen crept back slowly in to view. Finally it became bold and asserted itself with its old arrogance

Energy

ARE you a woman? And is your home electrically wired?

Then you know the magic of washing, ironing, sewing, cooking, cleaning and keeping your house warm or cool or light through electricity.

It's no new story to you. You are enthusiastic about it.

Enthusiasm and energy are running mates—one dies without the other.

The energy to feed your enthusiasm is no longer wrung from you.

It comes from the big electric light and power plant in your community—a flood of it—instantaneous, tireless, limitless. It is brought to you through an orderly maze of cables, conduits and wires, and is at your service by the simple act of putting a plug in a lampsocket or an outlet, and of pressing a button.

Anyone can buy this energy. So it is called "public."

It serves to make life better, easier, happier, healthier. So it is called a "utility."

Therefore, the power plant that drives your cleaner, that heats your shining cooking appliances, that lights your home, comes under the head of a "public utility."

Such great utilities are privately owned by plain citizens like all of us who have faith in the force called electricity. These utilities are, owing to their vital import to the country, under governmental direction.

Insurance companies have hundreds of millions invested in the different electric light and power companies; banks have loaned them money, and 1,450,000 individual Americans have put millions of their [illegible] into this great industry.

It is these people of faith, business integrity and enthusiasm who stand back of you as you clean and cook and wash and iron electrically; who, in a way, guard your lamp at night, seeing that the [illegible] never fails. They deserve your co-operation in return for that service.

A GREAT THING FOR AMERICA

if the ideal of old days comes back, when to accumulate a respectable library was the care and the ambition of any man who considered himself, or was determined to be considered, of any importance in the world. Pride in a library is not a very "sinful" kind of pride. The man who reads his books as he buys them, and buys them as he reads, has something to be proud about when he has accumulated a library. You don't have to be a rich man first—just

At a called meeting of the Columbia Engine and Motor Company No. 4, held in the company's house this date, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, death has moved from our midst to the Supreme Meeting above our beloved brother, CHARLES H. ZIMMERMAN, who entered into his eternal rest on March 31, 1921. We recognized in him such kindness of heart, cheerfulness of disposition, and warmth of greeting that made him able to make all that met him happier for the meeting, therefore be it

RESOLVED: That we humbly submit to our grief, realizing that it is our privilege to meet him in the Supreme Meeting of the Universe, whose Chief is the Lord and whose session never ends, and be it further,

RESOLVED: That our sincere and heartfelt sympathies be extended to his near relatives in this hour of sore bereavement and be it still further,

RESOLVED: That as a token of respect to the memory of our deceased brother, that our house be draped for the period of thirty days that our flag be placed at half mast, that the Company's bell be tolled in the hour of the funeral that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother and also entered in the minute records of the Columbia Fire Company and published in the Alexandria Gazette.

A Mother's Thanks For Chasco-Vin

It Brought Her Boy Around and She Says She Will Always Praise Chasco-Vin

"The results that my boy got from taking Chasco-Vin were wonderful. He is ten years old and was very much rundown and had a cough that hung on and on. For several weeks he took Doctor's medicine but it didn't seem to help him much. I then started to give him Chasco-Vin and the results were quick and remarkable. The first few doses that I gave him started him on the mend and now as he is finishing the second bottle he is in fine shape. His cough is gone, he eats well and sleeps well, thanks to Chasco-Vin. I will always praise and recommend this wonderful medicine." Mrs. E. O'Brien, 235 Essex St., Gloucester, N. J.

[illegible] Ind., writes: "[illegible] left us both a severe cough. [illegible] would not get so that it looked as though I would never get well. I tried Foley's Honey and Tar and after taking two bottles I am now well and back to my former weight."

This same confidence inspired us to labor in our laboratories for years in the effort to discover a formula and process by which a superior and more wholesome Ice Cream could be made. Our efforts have been rewarded.

We offer to you, through your dealer, on FRIDAY, APRIL 8th this new ice cream, of which we are the creators and sole makers (patents applied for to protect our process), which insures to you a distinctiveness of quality, flavor and texture.

With a feeling of absolute faith in this new Ice Cream and sincerely desiring to be worthy of your confidence, we issue with each purchase of "The Velvet Kind" the following written guarantee:

"When this ice cream left our factory it passed our severe tests for quality and purity.

"It was manufactured not only to comply with, but to exceed the state laws and regulations.

"It is guaranteed to be free from gelatin, gums, starch and fillers and it does not contain harmful ingredients of any kind.

"If when received by you it fails to give satisfaction, judged by quality and purity, return this guarantee, properly signed, to the dealer from whom the purchase was made and your money will be refunded."

We do NOT use gelatin, gums, starch, fillers, imitation flavors or foreign substitutes for cream;—

But We DO use pure cream, pure milk, pure cane sugar and genuine flavors in "The Velvet Kind" of our creation.
